A Good Day Out by Pauline Tilley

A Good Day Out by Pauline Tilley

We set off from the Mechanics at 9am on the Wednesday after the terrible floods of the previous weekend. Our destination was the National Memorial Arboretum in Staffordshire.

On arrival, a number of us took the little train, which gave us a 45 minute tour of the beautiful grounds with a refreshingly clear and concise commentary.

Back at the Visitors' Centre, we had missed the talk "Shot at Dawn" but one of the volunteers kindly gave four of us a private talk, explaining how young soldiers(some as young as 16, lying about their age) were shot at dawn for refusing to fight. It was most distressing (PTSD was unknown in those days!)

After a quick cup of coffee, we were on our way to Litchfield, a delightful city.

Jan noticed U3A flags fluttering in the breeze outside the Guildhall, so we investigated, and found it was the annual U3A Group Fair, showcasing various groups. Several music groups gave performances, the final one being a full orchestra, which was absolutely wonderful.

We hurried up to the Cathedral to view GAIA, our planet earth as seen from outer space, 7 meters in diameter suspended inside the nave, rotating. A wondrous sight!

We hurried back to our coach after a truly enjoyable and memorable day.

Thank you, Robert

One Silly Slip by Betty Smith

On Friday the 1st of September I was looking forward to visiting the Mechanics as usual, when I slipped and fell in the lounge.

I knew I was in trouble as the pain was intense.

Richard called 999, and he also rang our son, Anthony. The ambulance arrived after half an hour, and off to QMC I went. When I arrived in A & E the hospital was in chaos, with beds and stretchers on both sides of the corridors.

Anthony stayed with me and after 6 hours he was getting very frustrated that I had not been seen, but half an hour later I was off for my X-Ray. This showed a fractured hip, but luckily no chest break.

I was in quite serious pain but managed to get some rest in a quieter part of A & E until they moved me to a ward (F20 Orthopaedics). I then had my operation on Monday which went very well. My fellow patients on the ward were very nice and jolly, which made the time go more quickly.

I had a few problems with my Iron levels, which meant my recovery was not as quick as I wanted, but after 3 weeks I was discharged. On returning home I developed a rash due to the medication - so back to hospital for 3 more days on the heart ward! After this was sorted, I was finally home for rest and recuperation.

I would like to thank all who visited me and the lovely cards that I received.
